By an Ancient Scottish Reporter

STANFORD – On Thursday, September 6, at 5:43, the "C" Champion CNS Reds faced the "D" Champion ASC/AA to decide which team would advance to the final series the next evening. Umpire Lee "Commish" Robinson reviewed the ground rules with CNS coach Jay Larson and ASC/AA coach Mike Loredo and tossed the coin. Mike called "heads" and won the decision for the home team position on the center field scoreboard. He trotted out to the mound as CNS Reds' leadoff batter Jeff Kasson stepped to the plate.

The Sentinel thanks Jay Larson (CNS Reds) and Ken White (ASC/AA) for providing the full names of their teams' players. At the end of this season this reporter has four Scorebooks literally full of first names, but he is without a clue as to who is who since his day job is about as far away as he can be from the rest of the campus. Do you even know where Bonair Siding is located!

The next edition of this seasonal publication will probably be the final one for 2001. Again we thank John Huguenard (Myoclonic Jerks) and Tracy Ingebrigtsen (Hit & Run) for picking up our output and putting it on the web.

BEST WISHES AND THANKS TO ALL YOU BALL PLAYERS
